April was a good month for most equity markets, with investors seemingly taking an upbeat view of the potential for a US-China trade rapprochement. While the slowdown in global growth is impacting corporate earnings as a whole, many companies are still producing sound results, and the threat of higher US interest rates in the near term appears to have abated. The Trust's net asset value (NAV) outperformed the benchmark over the month, with stock selection positive in the UK and Japan in particular.

UK performance was helped by strong performance from a number of stocks. Shares in mining royalties business Anglo Pacific were up by more than 25%, as the company reported a strong first quarter of its new financial year at a key mine, while specialist materials supplier Scapa Group and fasteners business Trifast also rose on solid trading updates. Recent laggards Arena Events and floorings business Victoria bounced as confidence started to be rebuilt. We also benefited versus the index from not holding several companies in the market that released poor news, including Saga Group, Indivior and Funding Circle.

The North American and European portfolios broadly matched their local small-cap indices. In the US, we were helped by a bounce in Sterling Bancorp and homewares retailer At Home Group after prior weakness. Meanwhile, chicken processor Sanderson Farms continued to gain from hopes that the outlook for pricing and margins in the market was improving.

Weaker performances included Wheaton Precious Metals, which had done well in recent months; CommVault Systems, which highlighted increased costs; and helicopter transportation business Era Group, which was undermined by weaker results from peers. In Europe, there were positive updates in relation to several stocks, including semiconductor business ASM International, recreational vehicle parts supplier Dometic, Scandinavian construction equipment supplier Alimak and Italian fund manager Azimut.

Our Japanese outperformance was driven by the holding in Aberdeen's Japanese small-cap fund, which has had a good start to 2019. Elsewhere on the collectives side, our Asian-facing funds on the whole did better than the local small-cap market, with the Utilico Emerging Markets Trust doing well after lagging the rally over recent months.

Key risks

Values may fall as well as rise and investors may not get back the full amount invested. Income from investments may fluctuate. Changes in rates of exchange may have an adverse effect on the value, price or income of investments. Where investments are made in emerging markets, or smaller companies, their potential volatility may increase the risk to the value of, and the income from the investment. If markets fall, gearing can magnify the negative impact on performance.
