General information

Financial accounts held by certain non-resident entities, and certain entities controlled by non-resident individuals and/or U.S. persons, have to be reported to the CRA.

Account information reported to the CRA is shared with the government of a foreign jurisdiction in which an entity or one of its controlling persons is a resident of for tax purposes when Canada has an information exchange agreement with that jurisdiction. The CRA shares account information with the U.S. Internal Revenue Service if an entity is a specified U.S. person or one of its controlling persons is a U.S. citizen or resident.

To find out if the financial institution gave account information to the CRA and what information the institution gave, you may ask the institution. To find out if information has been shared with the U.S. or another jurisdiction, you may contact the CRA.

How to Fill Out the Form

Section 1 – Identification of account holder

Use Section 1 to identify the account holder. Sometimes the address of an account holder may be different from its mailing address. If this is the case, give both addresses.

The account holder is the person listed or identified as the holder of the financial account by the financial institution that maintains the account. But, when a person other than a financial institution holds a financial account for the benefit of or for another person as an agent, custodian, nominee, signatory, investment advisor, or intermediary, they are not considered the account holder. In such cases, the account holder is the person for whom the account is held.

If a trust or an estate is listed as the holder of a financial account, the trust or the estate is the account holder, not the trustee or the liquidator. Similarly, if a partnership is listed as the holder of a financial account, the partnership is the account holder, not the partners in the partnership.

An account holder also includes any person who can access the cash value or designate a beneficiary under a cash value insurance contract or an annuity contract.

The policy / account number is the number the financial institution assigned to the account (such as a bank account number or an insurance policy number). If there is no such number, leave this box blank.

Section 2 – Declaration of tax residence

Use Section 2 to identify the entity's tax residence and taxpayer identification number. If the entity does not have such a number, give the reason.

Generally, an entity will be a tax resident of a jurisdiction if, under the laws of that jurisdiction, it pays or should be paying income tax there because of its domicile, residence, place of management or incorporation, or a similar criterion. For this form:

- a partnership, a limited partnership, or a similar legal arrangement is considered to reside in the jurisdiction where its place of management is located
- a trust is considered to reside in the jurisdiction where its place of management and control is located
- an entity that is a "United States person" is a tax resident of the United States

An entity that is a tax resident in more than one jurisdiction can rely on the tie-breaker rules in a tax convention (when they apply) to resolve a case of dual tax residence. For more information on tax residency, talk to a tax adviser or go to oecd.org/tax/automatic-exchange/crs-implementation-and-assistance/tax-residency/#d.en.347760. Otherwise, an entity should enter all of the jurisdictions where they are a tax resident and provide their taxpayer identification number (TIN) for each jurisdiction.

A TIN or functional equivalent is a unique combination of letters or numbers that a jurisdiction assigns to an individual or entity. The jurisdiction uses a TIN in administering its tax laws to identify an individual or entity. Enter the TIN in its official format. For more details about acceptable TINs, go to oecd.org/tax/automatic-exchange/crs-implementation-and-assistance/tax-identification-numbers/#d.en.347759.

If an entity is a tax resident in the U.S. and does not have a TIN from the U.S., it has 90 days to apply for a TIN and 15 days after it is received to give it to the financial institution. If the entity fails to provide its U.S. TIN to the financial institution, the entity is liable to a $100 penalty.

If the entity is a tax resident in a jurisdiction other than Canada or the U.S. and does not have a TIN from its jurisdiction of residence, it has 90 days to apply for a TIN and 15 days after it is received to give it to the financial institution, unless its jurisdiction of residence does not issue or require the collection of TINs. If a TIN has not been provided for a jurisdiction of residence, the entity has to provide a reason for not having a TIN. Reasons that fall under "Reason 3: Other reason" for not having a TIN include not being eligible to receive one. However, the entity is eligible to receive a TIN and fails to provide it to the financial institution, the entity is liable to a $500 penalty.

Section 3 – Entity classification

Use Section 3 to identify what type of entity the account holder is.

In Section 3.1, identify if the entity is a financial institution and whether it has a global intermediary identification number (GIIN). A GIIN is a unique identifier the Internal Revenue Service of the United States issues to financial institutions. Reasons for not having a GIIN include being a deemed compliant foreign financial institution or a non-participating foreign financial institution.

A financial institution may be a custodial institution, a depository institution, an investment entity, or a specified insurance company. A financial institution resident in Canada may classify itself as a financial institution if it is a Canadian financial institution or a prescribed non-reporting financial institution. These types of entities include the following:

- registered retirement savings plan
- registered pension plan
- tax-free savings account
- registered education savings plan
- registered retirement income fund

Use Section 3.2 to determine whether the financial institution is a type of investment entity that needs to identify its controlling persons in the Annex. An entity has to fill out the Annex if it resides in a non-participating jurisdiction and is an entity described in paragraph b) of the definition of investment entity.

Use Sections 3.3 to 3.5 to determine if an entity, other than a financial institution, has to identify its controlling persons in the Annex.

Section 4 – Certification

Make sure you complete all sections of this form (including the Annex) that apply to the entity, and sign Section 4 before you give this form to the financial institution.

Annex

Use the Annex to identify the controlling persons of the entity.

Controlling persons of an entity are the natural persons who exercise direct or indirect control over the entity. Generally, whether a person exercises control over an entity is determined in a way similar to how beneficial owners are identified for Canada's Proceeds of Crime (Money Laundering) and Terrorist Financing Act.

For example, a person is generally considered to control a corporation if they directly or indirectly own or control at least 25% of the corporation. If no individual is named as controlling the corporation, the director or senior official of the corporation is considered the corporation's controlling person.

The social insurance number (SIN) of the controlling person only has to be given on this form if that person has a SIN and is a U.S. person or a non-resident of Canada.

In the case of a trust, controlling persons include its settlors, trustees, any protectors, beneficiaries (or class of beneficiaries), and any other natural persons with ultimate effective control over the trust.

A controlling person of an entity may have control indirectly through another entity. If so, to determine the entity's controlling persons, you have to look through the entity's chain of control or ownership to identify the natural persons who have ultimate effective control over the entity. You then have to report who the controlling persons are. Financial institutions may apply this requirement in a way similar to how beneficial owners are identified for Canada's Proceeds of Crime (Money Laundering) and Terrorist Financing Act.

In the case where a trust has control over the entity, the controlling persons of the entity include all natural persons who control the trust. In the case where a corporation has control over the entity, the controlling persons include all natural persons who directly or indirectly own or control 25% or more of the corporation.

In the case of a legal arrangement other than a corporation or a trust, controlling persons are persons in equivalent or similar positions to those described above.

For the purposes of Part XVIII and Part XIX, a legal arrangement includes a corporation, a partnership, a trust, and a foundation.

Enter the description that best describes the type of controlling person:

- 1) Direct owner of a corporation
- 2) Indirect owner of a corporation (through an intermediary)
- 3) Director or senior official of a corporation
- 4) Settlor of a trust
- 5) Trustee of a trust
- 6) Protector of a trust
- 7) Beneficiary of a trust
- 8) Other controlling person of a trust
- 9) Equivalent to a settlor of a legal arrangement other than a trust (e.g. partnership)
- 10) Equivalent to a trustee of a legal arrangement other than a trust (e.g. partnership)
- 11) Equivalent to a protector of a legal arrangement other than a trust (e.g. partnership)
- 12) Equivalent to a beneficiary of a legal arrangement other than a trust (e.g. partnership)
- 13) Other controlling person of a legal arrangement other than a trust (e.g. partnership)
